About This Game

Welcome to England. Take on the role of a hitman, brought out of retirement by your former boss to help rid the streets of a mysterious new drug known only as HYPE. Navigating the UK via the night train you are tasked with hunting down HYPE suppliers and getting paid to drive up the street price of the drug.

Open-World Isometric action. Bleak, moody isometric graphics set the scene as you ride between endless procedurally generated, open world levels. Explore the streets to find arms dealers, drug dealers, customers and most importantly – the target.

How far can you get? With no limit to the number of HYPE suppliers on the streets, you will take on an infinite number of procedurally generated levels and an ever-increasing police presence to reach your targets.

Choose the right tools. With up to 6 different weapons to purchase and upgrade, and a vast array of gadgets / equipment, from tracking devices to drones, you will have to decide how best to spend your earnings to suit your style of play.

Develop your skills. 5 years of lying on the beaches of Thailand (or was it Cambodia?) have left you feeling a bit rusty – with multiple skills to upgrade keep taking out those targets and you will find your feet in no time.

Welcome to the HYPE Trade. With such a hot insider tip on the rising price of HYPE, why sit on it? Buy and sell the drug at perpetually increasing prices and make some extra pocket money on the side.

It is very clunky, but if you get it in a cheap $1 bundle it might be worth enduring. I'm stupid for match 3, so here i am.. not the censored version. Meh, it's pretty repetitive from the get go, and not very fun starting out. May be good for those that get off on beating any game, regardless of the content.. Horrible updates.. no content, no timeline. Last update they released the "sandbox" mode; pretty safe to say this game will soon be dead in the water or have its sandbox mode optimised a little bit more then pushed out of early access. Stay away until release and look back to see whats changed.. I haven't played much yet, but I've really enjoyed my time so far.

It plays something like Mario Kart in the sky, with a somewhat confusing control scheme that is incredibly rewarding when you do well.

The drones handle neither like real drones or video game drones, which could bother some people, but I really enjoy it.

I haven't tried the Vive support yet, but I'm guessing that it's super nauseating and fun.

I think anyone interested in racing games with more difficult controls should check this out.

. there are errors in the topography especially around airports. some airstrips are depressed into the ground while others like naivasha are extremely elevated as though on plateaus.

is there any way to correct this error?

Simply awful!

Stay away, stay away!. Why should you play the game -

The game has good visuals and sound and if you are looking for a casual game to pass time then you should try this out. This game is almost same like bejeweled with an extra twist of adding moves to kill the other team minions. The game is extremely fast paced so you will enjoy matching gems. The PVP is also fun and its not a pay to play game as all the minions are changed to level 10 in PVP so buying gems and increasing their levels will not affect. Buying gems will allow you to have more minions and different attack combos.

The new update has really improved the game by a lot and the visuals.

Why you shouldnt play the game -

Even in single player it says high ping and slow internet. It makes the moves slow so you will have a tough time fighting. The single player mode shouldnt need to connect to the server.

The ping difference will hamper your online play as its a game of who is faster.

After a while you will get tired of PvE as you need to go on grinding lower level monsters to reach higher level or spend cash to buy gems.

The best thing about the game is when you are fighting a bot who is also level 1 and you are also level 1 the bot has more health.

The surprising thing is if the bot needs fire gems to attack and you dont miss a single one, the bot will still get mana and attack you but sadly you need to match mana gems to attack.

If you are thinking of playing it sometimes then go for it as its F2P. Fulfilled my weekly quota of blue screens.. Funny. Good game :). Great game..
